EXTERNAL SUPPORT

2015 – present Longitudinal Effectiveness of Communities that Care on Reducing Youth Risk Factors; R03 DA034664-01A; National Institute on Drug Abuse; Principal Investigator
Although the short-term efficacy of the CTC model has been established, the long-term effectiveness of CTC on youth risk behaviors over an extended period of time is largely unknown. The proposed research will examine the longitudinal effectiveness of the Communities That Care model (CTC) on youth risk and youth risk and protective factors, ATOD use, youth mental health, bullying and gambling behaviors using a propensity score matching approach.

2012 – present Taking a Close Look at the Implementation of Evidence2Success
Annie E Casey Foundation: Principal Investigator
This project conducts evaluation research on the pilot of Evidence2Success, a new prevention system that combines systems change and community mobilization in order to improve youth behavioral, academic, emotional/mental health, physical, and relationship outcomes in urban areas. Evidence2Success is being developed in partnership between the Annie E Casey Foundation, the Social Development Research Group at the University of Washington School of Social Work, the Social Research Unit (Dartington, UK), and Mainspring Consulting.
